sUUPER plays 2

for holidays and special days

Green Timber's sUUPER plays really are super, you told us. But could there be more such enjoyable dramas for holidays and other important times? Yes there could, and here they are, fifty of them in the all new sUUPER plays 2 for holidays and special days, set for publication in summer, 2010.

The plays are all you have come to expect from UU author Richard S. Kimball. Most are amusing – some of them zany – and a few are more serious. All are meaningful and suited for use as lessons for all ages in multi-generational worship, or in religious education programs as quick performances, discussion starters, and group builders.

Welcome to a world where:

- Christmas Eve sky searchers find the stars of several religions
- A Groundhog Day visit prompts talk of Welcoming Congregations
- Youth share personal prayers at Thanksgiving and peace prayers for Memorial Day
- Five Green Guys explore ways to make UUs more environmentally conscious at Earth Day
- Drips and Drops overcome differences for Water Communion

Plays average about four minutes, and longer ones can be shortened. All are appropriate for upper elementary and middle school groups, and older youth will enjoy presenting them to younger children. Each play includes lists of characters and props, simple staging instructions, a complete script for easy reproduction and reading, and a supporting leader page with questions to prompt significant discussions after play presentations and suggested other activities.

Minimal preparations are required for use. Plays can be used immediately or your group can build them into something more by adding scenery, simple costumes, sound effects, and props. The character count ranges from three to fourteen, but actors can play more than one role in larger plays. The book's length is 378 pages, all three-hole punched for easy insertion in a binder.

The price per book is $90. The price for copies 2 to 4 sent at any time to a single UU community is $80 per copy. For the pricing of copies 5 and beyond, request a multiple copy discount schedule from Green Timber. Media rate shipping for a single copy is $6. Shipping for multiple copies is billed at Green Timber's cost with a small addition for handling. Inquire for priority rates.
